

Three questions to ask on a school tour that the brochure won't answer.

What happens when a student falls behind

Not the policy. The actual sequence of events. Who notices, in which week, and what changes on the timetable. Most schools cannot answer this in specifics.

How many dropped A Level Maths last year

The number after Year 12 tells you more about teaching quality than any league table. Schools that teach it well do not lose students at that point.

Who teaches the bottom set

Strong departments put experienced teachers with the students who are struggling. Weak ones give them to whoever is free.

Save this before your next school tour.

@mentorsy.in

Cambridge · IGCSE · A Level Mathematics